

advantages and benefits of a modular kit home

Faster time, savings, high quality, predictable costs compared to traditional construction costs.

Natural materials*, sustainability and low waste of the construction system are aimed to be reused after the End-of-Life.

Load-bearing construction elements are mainly made of galvanized steel.

Use of dry systems and prefabricated elements for quick and easy installation.

Unlimited possibility of openings in the facades.

Increasing the surface area by simply adding a basic additional unit.

DIY construction. Disassembling and re-locating the house to another plot of land.

Upgrads with passive energy saving systems: roofs, walls or geotermic solutions.

Easy changing or replacement of decorative and construction elements.

* local natural fiber, hemp, wood, etc.